

I'm Not Afraid To Love You

FFH

If I let you get your hands on my heart
I knew there'd be changes you would want in me
You'd frighten me.
You'd let down my guard.
'cause I knew how easily my heart can break.
But the fear started fading as I have begun to see
There's beauty all created and you knew what's best for me.

So I am not afraid to love you anymore.
No, I am not afraid to love you, my Lord.
I trust your plans.
They are perfect like I'll be when you're through.
So I am not afraid to love you.

Well it hurts as you're remolding my dreams
And that you're reshaping all my attitudes.
It's hard to feel that every change means that little by little
I am more like you.
So I embrace your risen come when I see what you've done
I can't deny your wisdom or how far you've come.

So I am not afraid to love you anymore.
No, I am not afraid to love you, my Lord.
I trust your plans.
They are perfect like I'll be when you're through.
So I am not afraid to love you.

I let you create. I let you reshape.
I will give you all that's mine.
I don't understand
I know you'll hold my hand
So mourn your head and take your time.

So I am not afraid to love you anymore.
No, I am not afraid to love you, my Lord.
I trust your plans.
They are perfect like I'll be when you're through.
So I am not afraid to love you.

No, I am not afraid to love you anymore.
I am not afraid to love you, my Lord.
I trust your plans.
They are perfect like I'll be when you're through.
So I am not afraid to love you.