

Hangman's Lullaby

Fiddler's Green

Hang your coat on my hook
Let us read the last book
I'll pretend all your demons are gone

Have no fear, do not cry
This is your lullaby
And the hangman will not know

Hang your coat on my hook
Let us read the last book
I'll pretend all your demons are gone

Have no fear, do not cry
This is your lullaby
And the hangman will not know

So sleep well my true love
With all the stars up above
Will be no harm in the night, in the deep of the night

Have no fear, do not cry
This is your lullaby
And the hangman will not know
And the hangman will not know

Lay your head by my side
Take my hand, do not hide
I'll pretend all your shadows are gone

Have no fear, do not cry
This is your lullaby
And the hangman will not know

Close your eyes, feel no pain
Rest your mind, all in vain
I'll pretend all your nightmares are gone

Have no fear, do not cry
This is your lullaby
And the hangman will not know

So sleep well my true love
With all the stars up above
Will be no harm in the night, in the deep of the night

Have no fear, do not cry
This is your lullaby
And the hangman will not know
And the hangman will not know

So sleep well my true love
With all the stars up above
Will be no harm in the night, in the deep of the night

Have no fear, do not cry
This is your lullaby
And the hangman will not know

So sleep well my true love
Will be no harm in the night, in the deep of the night

Have no fear, do not cry
This is your lullaby
