

Victor And His Demons

Fiddler's Green

When I came up to London, I saw him in town
He was having a drink, he clearly looked really down
He got a whiskey, and that was his doom
I thought it was time to help him out of this gloom

He said, "What the hell now, what should I do?"
I said, "What went wrong? This drink is for you!"
He screamed out really high and that was far out of tune
The waitress looked weird as she entered the room

Victor and his demons are going to town
So better watch out, stop your dreaming, he's fooling around
Check out all your feelings if you don't have a clue
Victor and his demons are looking for you

He asked, "Better to let her be, better to grab her now
What should I do?"
I said, "Better to let her be, better to grab her - that's all up to you"
Better to let her be, better to grab her
Or better to get her or better to let her
He got it in tune as she entered the room

"What the hell! Why does she look so damned pretty
And why does she smile so fucking awesome at me?"

And then he said, "Hey!", he said, "Hey!", he said, "Hey!"

Victor and his demons are going to town
So better watch out, stop your dreaming, he's fooling around
Check out all your feelings if you don't have a clue
Victor and his demons are looking for you

One for Pete and two for Paul
One for Pat to make him fall

One for Pete and two for Paul
One for Pat to make him fall

One for Pete
Two for Paul

Victor and his demons are going to town
So better watch out, stop your dreaming, he's fooling around
Check out all your feelings if you don't have a clue
Victor and his demons are looking for you

Victor and his demons
Watch out, stop your dreaming
Check out all your feelings
Victor and his demons are looking for you
