Gimmie Something

He's been waiting this time, Running out of vodka to love. He's been going down to hide, Living in the back of his truck.

With his all American still be thirty He puts it in the bag and he sits on a curb And he says

Hey, come on, give me money, Come on, give me money. You've been living your life doing all kinds of drugs I've been spending my time trying not to fall in love When you come out now with your dirty spoon Stay on my couch and you howl at the moon and you say

Hey, come on, give me something Hey, come on, give me something.

Hey, come on, give me something Hey, come on, give me something
