

Implications

Fifteen

I've seen your lust for things to be all right, well you better start waiting I've seen it in a million eyes, and I'm still waiting 'cause the answer ain't your lust for things to be all right, s o I'm still waiting For people's loves to rule their lives, we all seem to be waiti ng
We are nothing, We are Nothing, We are One
We are nothing, We are Nothing, We are One
We're looking for something, but nothing's getting done A million sectarian divisions, are only implications of Our lives, We create our joy, our sadness, our meaning, it seem s so self-defeating Until I look in another man, see myself, touch his hand feel th e same life
Flowing, the same life Growing, the same life Running, the same life as mine