

You Refuse

Fight or Flight

To be left alone it is
All I have wanted
Free from the sound of this World in a coma
Heavy in sadness
Afraid to go home
But too sane to dive into the brain of the broken
I can't take this back
I can't become no one
I've struggled too hard
Too much and for so long
The pigment's been stolen
From eyes that won't open
The absence of warmth
From his breath denies hope
And then

Everything you came here to find
To be honest to be Anything in search of a life
to be promised we

Break down the walls
Inside the pain
Losing yourself in the fall
Confuse hate inside your heart
With emptiness
Truth comes
It rips you apart you refuse
To be anything

I've been down before
But now this time is different
Visions of finding myself
Have been lifted
If numb has no value
And strength is no gift
Then we can't become one with the world
We are faced with

We can't go back now
We can't escape now
Holding back our fate
To find out

Everything you came here to find
To be honest to be
Anything in search of a life
to be promised we

Break down the walls
Inside the pain
Losing yourself in the fall
Confuse hate inside your heart
With emptiness
Truth comes
It rips you apart you refuse

To be anything

Who are you to save me
I've got forever stuck inside my head
And who are you to fail me
Never thought you could forgive yourself
Breaking through this empty
Felling trapped inside

Break down the walls
Inside the pain
Losing yourself in the fall
Confuse hate inside your heart
With emptiness
Truth comes
It rips you apart you refuse
To be anything