

I hope that when my day, it finally arrives
I'll be remembered without tears in your eyes
Cause you ruled your kingdom with a devil on your back
There's no room in heaven with the saints that you attacked

But somethings never change
Somethings never change

But you, this is not what you want
It's never gonna change
I'm never gonna understand
And to hell, with all your excuses
I'm not the same on my own
And now they're here

It's never gonna change who you are
It's never gonna change who you are

I kept a picture of you while I was on the run
So I could remember you when all of this is done

But somethings never change
Somethings never change

But you, this is not what you want
It's never gonna change
I'm never gonna understand
And to hell, with all your excuses
I'm not the same on my own
And now they're here

It's never gonna change who you are
It's never gonna change who you are