

Never Change

Fightstar

The time is now to tell all your secrets of deceit and glorious greed and all the things that caught our eyes.
It takes me back to a place when we were drunken and disgraced but we were young, abusing all the things that we had won.
You take another and I'll be watching.

You never change, you never change, you're all the same.
You can't keep me down, you can't keep me down.
I'll be your home if you,
don't you ever need something to just believe in.

The time is now to tell how we set the streets afire with furious heat that paints a sweat across the skin.
It takes me back to a time when we refused to walk the line.
But we were young, abusing all the things that we had done.
You take another and I'll be watching.

You never change, you never change, you're all the same.
You can't keep me down, you can't keep me down.
I'll be your home if you,
don't you ever need something to just believe in.

Somewhere out along the way something seemed to change in your eyes.
What's new to me is old to you and now its our time to rise.
There will always be another way.

You never change, you never change, you're all the same.
You can't keep me down, you can't keep me down.
We're taking it back, we'll carry this on forever.
I'll be your home if you, don't you ever need something just to hold on to.
