Did you hear the one about heaven?
There's a guy that's running the sky
I heard his daddy gave us all seven when we die we might be surprised It feels like the whole thing's made up
I can't really see their design Don't want to burn forever
so much for water to wine

When you look into a microscope things get real
When you take a better, second look miracles fade

First you lost your angels, then you lost your crown
Give up your holy mission - what was lost has just been found

Give up your holy crusade - what was lost has just been found

Did you hear the one about zombies?
Three days dead, then it's back to life
He runs it all with rigid authority you better make sure that your living inline.
I hope your not about free thinking you'll burn in hell to the end of time It's too bad that he's this intolerant
so much for water to wine.

Looks like the rain is falling the truth is changing the sky is falling down.
