Thin Spirits

Finger Eleven

Another face another empty space the feelings fade and all the lonely ones are left hiding

Your spirit's so thin there's nothing left to take without rhyme or reason you point the other way i don't need to watch as you go down in flames i said over and over

The water comes and leaves its faint traces you're bored to tears i'll keep you here but you won't listen