Sorry I'm Late

I need a drink, i need a drink so i can think of a way out of this mess that i'm in i need a smoke, who doesn't need a smoke these days so i can cope with the emails, the inbox and the wages of sin and it ain't even 9, in the morning sorry i'm late i need a line, i need a line so i can wake up after the beers and the laughter of last night i need a line, who doesn't need a line these days coz i'm tired of romancing, and i just wanna keep dancing with snow white and it ain't even 9 in the morning sorry i'm late i need a drink, i need a drink to see through the smoke and the mirrors and the secrets and li es in this town and i need a smoke, who doesn't need a smoke these days so i can make my day look pretty as she fucks me til the sun go es down and it's ain't even 9, in the morning and i'll be just fine once i get what i want

sorry i'm late