Luckiest Man Alive

Finn Brothers

I know that it's you behind Everything that I do And I wouldn't try to hide Who I am from you It's all me that you see I was ready for another try But I needed you to set me free Must be the luckiest man alive Man finds love in his life He's the luckiest man alive Someone true by his side He's the luckiest man alive Once you cut right through His foolish pride He's the luckiest man alive I've never had the time before Leaving things where they fell I was going door to door Always thinking I was somewhere else You saw me and what I could be And now I know what love is for It's the only thing sets you free Must be the luckiest man alive Man finds love in his life He's the luckiest man alive Someone true by his side He's the luckiest man alive She cut right through His foolish pride He's the luckiest man alive Feel the motion, it's an endless ocean Rocking gently and moving deeply Feels like always been knocked sideways Over and over by the strength of your love Man finds love Man finds love in his eyes He's the luckiest man alive Someone true Man finds love He's the luckiest man alive Someone true