

Monsoon

Fireside

You fell asleep, just to make me feel bad denied me your body, and made me feel dead

Since it went wrong, it has never been the same but everything changes, it's all just a game

Though they say that in time, everything will go right

Too far away and time's not on my side
I tried to call you, still knowing you're out I can't wait until I hear your voice again

Though they say that in time, everything will go right
it's hopelessly black, it's coming back

Don't you know, it's with you that I feel the best the pain's still in my chest, it never rests