

Can you see how I cry
Will I ever be as good as I once were
Its all the same its always me
And every time I see you I will have to let you be Used to think that winter was the worst part to get through
But now I'm really not so sure anymore
Can you see how I lie
My hands just can't stop shaking and I can't get no sleep

You never missed me while I was away
You never told me you wanted me to stay

Your disappearing act is what I fear
But you don't seem to notice, your too busy with your own
The rain that hits the roof, that's beautiful to me
And I don't think you love me
Not even you