

Again And Again

Fireworks

I'm feeling earthquakes
A natural disaster
Your lips begin to quiver words but the tension's building faster

They build it too thin now the levee's giving in
It should have been fixed before she came back to shore

I've got wide eyes
A sidetracked mind that forgets shit in left field
The constant pressure, the changing weather
The weight I want to feel

The market seems to be crashing they've got nothing to show
Forget general consensus, you know what you know
We're heading upstream
Still try to go with the flow

(Oh!) I'm feeling reckless humming, "Jealous Again"
I need it now more than I did back then

They build it too thin now the levee's giving in
It should have been fixed before she came back to shore

I've got wide eyes
A sidetracked mind that forgets shit in left field
The constant pressure, the changing weather
The weight I want to feel
(So don't tell me how to feel)

The market seems to be crashing they've got nothing to show
Forget general consensus, you know what you know
We're heading upstream
Still try to go with the flow
Still try to go with the flow

I've got this lump in my throat
It's getting harder not to choke
I may be digging a rut
But I'm so far from giving up

When you hear sirens, be silent
Give me a reason not to ignore them, not to ignore them

Who cares that the market seems to be crashing
They've got nothing to show

Fuck general consensus, you know what you know
We're heading upstream
Still try to go with the flow

The market seems to be crashing
We're heading up stream
Still try to go with the flow

Forget general consensus, you know what you know
We're heading upstream
Still try to go with the flow