First you give. FIRST YOU GIVE. Then you take, just like the tu rning of the tides. I will rise...HIGH TIDE rise and find good things and bring them within reach. Bring me good fortune. Rewa rd my good deeds. Then as the tide recedes, you steal a piece o f me. This neverending cycle constantly CREATES ME. This cycle, it will NEVER END. Bring me love, take it away, just like the turning OF THE TIDES. Pick me up, then bring be down, just like the turning OF THE TIDES. Bring me hope, then hopelessness, ju st like the turning of the tides. Learning to adjust my expecta tions cause I know that the TIDE WILL TURN. Strickened by this persistence, but I know that the TIDE WILL TURN. Preying on my existance, but I know that the tide will turn HIGH TIDE rise an d bring me...BRING ME PEACE. Neverending cycle of life repeats. Tides keep turning...Why can't you leave me be? Give to me, th en take from me. I know that the tide WILL TURN. Bring me life, then bring me death. I know that the tide WILL TURN.