This aching heart is a guarantee The situation has got to me The agony and the ecstasy Is coming to an end Say when ... say when My bedroom wall is a silver screen I present my life as it should have been I've seen the film a thousand times But I've never seen the end Say when ... say when No amount of promises No amount of pain No amount of promises Can bring you back again I've seen the film a thousand times But I've never seen the end Say when