Slice

Five For Fighting

There was a time a long, long time ago Chevys and levees played on the radio No cell phones, just 20,000 lights Swingin' on a Saturday night alright

Can you imagine that slice of time Rock and roll was young People stood in line To hear music that played into their lives That you could carry till the day you die

Hey man sing me a song
When we were everyone
We were more than just a slice of American pie

Have you read my blog today 300 million little USA's Your doorstep is just a click away We'll get together one of these days

How can you be as nice as me You're not from the same slice as me Where do we go from here my friend Is this the way our story ends

Hey man sing me a song When we were everyone We were more than just a slice of American pie

I can't stop singing along Can you join in...come on Are we more than just a slice of American pie

We're top down lovers
It's Saturday night
The band's running
And it feels so right
The moon's dancing and the stars are free
I caught your heart on a summer breeze
Whatever was or what's meant to be
Our melodies are memories

There was a time a long, long time ago Chevys and levees played on the radio No cell phones, just 20,000 lights Swingin' on a Saturday night alright

Hey man sing me a song
When we were everyone
We were more than just a slice of American pie

I can't stop singing along Can you join in...come on Are we more than just a slice of American pie

We're more than a slice We're more than a slice We're more than just a slice of American pie