

Is this the last time of being alone?
Is there a right time that I'd never know?
Cause I needed all you gave,
But you turned away

Could I have been wrong to push it so much?
I'm singing the same songs you used for a crutch
And I'm writing one right now
You'll sing someday

You say it's for the best. I don't it yet.
You say I'll wave goodbye to the things you said someday

Are these the same lines that I've heard before?
Could they have been mine, just switching the words?
Did you ever really say
What's really there?

You say it's for the best. I don't it yet.
You say I'll wave goodbye to the things you said someday

Cause I needed all you gave,
But you turned away