

The Greatest Falling Stars

Five Times August

It was a sudden wave after a Saturday
It wasn't what she said, just the way
And I felt so strange finding her right there
And the way we changed has led to here

Now I'm not made for this,
The truth that she would not admit
The greatest falling stars are in her eyes,
Not in her lies

And it's all you want, and all I gave
But as soon as you turned this way, I was too late

Now time won't wait for us,
And you say we happened just because?
But that's not the way it's suppose to be
Not for me

So let it all go down,
Let me turn you around
And I will make you smile
The way you did, the way I thought that this was suppose to be
