Speed of Sound

Flaming Lips

I remember the first time You said you loved me I waited all weekend You never called me So you find him attractive So what if he is You'd like some excitement You could count his same kiss So it goes On and on My love grows And yours is gone A lonely existence Well it's just a lie If there is a reason I'd like to know why Something I want you to know I've told you this once before Don't want you to see him no more Once again You've let me down Broke my heart And turned me round There's a light in the darkness It doesn't seem far Is something the matter ajar The plane goes down Will not land Pilot's dead Nowhere to be found