

When the waves of decision come on me
When everything I told myself fades
When the forces of darkness surround me
I remember the price you paid
You see my heart is totally evil
And I need your strength to come in
Please take these chains that bind me
And banish me from this sin

There is a war!
Inside this body there is a place
That we run to
The time is now!
Don't ever forget
The things he's pulled you through
(2x)

The enemy constantly tells me
That I'm weak, and I have no choice
But I know the truth that's in me
And he says that I have a voice
I turn around and spit at failure
Cause now I know that there is hope
No longer will these chains afflict me
Now it's sin that's gonna have to cope

There is a war!
Inside this body there is a place
That we run to
The time is now!
Don't ever forget
The things he's pulled you through
(2x)

There is a war!
The time is now!
There is a war!
The time is now!
There is a war!
The time is now!