Forget yourself for a day And all your friends keep tellin you That I'm dying Well, I'm thinking about surviving Now you're floating away I know your name I know your face like a stranger But I'm liking the taste of the danger So leave And I can sell you out I like the girls Who like the pills The ones that cure The ones that kill I like the girls Who like the pills I'll take my share of the blame I smell your cigarettes Your sex and your violence But your love and hate Is louder than silence And all you want is the fame The voice is free But soon you'll be buying And tv cameras Know that you're lying So leave And I can sell you out I like the girls Who like the pills The ones that cure The ones that kill I like the girls Who like the pills I like the girls Who like the pills The ones that cure The ones that kill (I like the girls who...) I like the girls Who like the pills (I like the girls who...) I like the girls Who like the pills

The ones that cure

The ones that kill (always forever... together)

I like the girls Who like the pills

I like the girls
Who like the pills
The ones that cure
The ones that kill
(always forever... together)

I like the girls Who like the pills

I like the girls
Who like the pills
The ones that cure
The ones that kill
(always forever... together)

I like the girls Who like the pills

I like the girls
Who like the pills
The ones that cure
The ones that kill
(I like the girls who...)

I like the girls Who like the pills
