drank away the rest of the day wonder what my liver'd say drink, it's all you can blackened days with their bigger gales blow in your parlor to discuss the day listen, it's all you can

but don't, don't sink the boat that you need, you build to keep afloat.
no don't, don't sink the boat
that you built...

sick and tired of what to say jumped away from the ball and chain breath, it's all you can rambling years of lousy luck miss the smell of burning turf dream, it's all you can

that you built, you built to keep afloat.
that you built...

singled out for who you are takes all types to be a man feel, it's all you can filthy suits with bigot ears hide behind their own worst fears live, it's all you can it's all you can it's all you can...do.

[Interlude] (x2)

no matter where i put my head i wake up feeling sound again

tomorrow smells of less decay beats the bows that bloom the fray be thankful, it's all you can

that you built, you built to keep afloat.
that you built, you built to keep afloat.
that you built, you built to keep afloat.
no don't, no don't sink the boat
that you built
we all built to keep afloat

(instrumental interlude to end over Am chord)

it's a ripe old age
it's a ripe old age
it's a ripe old age
that's what i am
a ripe old age
a ripe old age
a ripe old age

(And for any mandolin or violin players,
