Saints & Sinners

Flogging Molly

Saints and sinners are but we Twisted wrecks of symmetry Like broken arrows split Against the mindless rift we feed Saints and sinners are And each other's company we seek

Though we took our separate paths Back to the womb where we collapsed On buildings full of living bricks Cementing walls a dangerous fix Saints and sinners are Begrudgers who will never mix

Contemplating right from wrong In retrospect we don't get on So Armageddon here we come Who are the chosen ones? Consequences who you've been For in damnation Satan grins

We're saints and we're sinners Nothing more than lost beginners Both now facing endless falls It's hell or heaven cry's The pulpits' scorn

Every saint now has a past So may the sinners' future last Every ghost still has a haunt Where he or she feels they belong All possessing tortured souls Confessing all that's yet to be Saints and sinners are Lunatics a vicious breed

So Armageddon here we come Who are the chosen ones? Consequences who you've been For in damnation Satan grins

We're saints and we're sinners Nothing more than lost beginners Both now facing endless falls It's hell or heaven cry's The pulpits' scorn

We're saints and we're sinners Nothing more than lost beginners Wise men crank the guillotine Where heads will roll for all to see
