

Hands

Flow

Finally the dawn breaks and the sun rises Quietly dissolving the sorrow, ha... As if gently enfolding Even the small lies and mistakes, ha...

Our hands are not large But let's believe in ourselves tomorrow and create our dreams

That friend you chatted all night with Forgetting the passage of time, ha... Can you face them with a smile Standing proud now? Ha...

I'll never hesitate again, because I've decided to travel No one can put out the fire in my heart I thought the days would continue like this forever unchanging But reality is changing its shape moment by moment and passing by, woo

The number of tears we've shed will make us stronger Let's start walking from here, with a bright light in our hearts Even if our world is covered in darkness Let's hold hands and sing this song of love Let's walk together through this precious moment.
..