

Tapioca Sunrise

Flux of Pink Indians

your hateful nuclear weapons are mere props for your aggression more tools for further oppression die with your..... possessions the blatant colonel gave the command and millions died in a far away land the atom bomb was dropped just as he had planned and the whole city was reduced to sand innocent animal and people of towns slaughtered as the bombs poured down we won't fight your war we've seen it all before millions dying in anguish and pain we don't wanna see war repeated again another man dead is one less to fight as proof of what is right they've got atom bombs on the land part of the military strategy they've planned they've got atom bombs in the air part of their deterrent - it's difference through fear they've got atom bombs at sea just another pawn in their nuclear artillery it becomes very plain to see that i can't get away from the threat that continually hangs over me soldiers on opposing sides both prayed to the same god in the sky hoping he would protect them so they wouldn't have to die but praying eased only minds and didn't save anyone the bombs still fell killing millions of innocent men women and children war is governments arguments they have failed to control war ain't fun, war is stupid, war is painful and war can never be won war does not pay

war does not pay
war does not pay