Platonic

It was cold when I came over We were young, it was December Stayed up late and watched a movie About two friends that made each other angry

Pretend like we are more than friends We'll see where the night ends I wake up on your floor, you wake up in your bed So I'd like to think you said it's not where the story ends We say our sweet goodbyes Platonic jagged knives

The pretty girl home from the city Met that old friend that made her angry They walked the beach when it was raining Fell in love and then got married

Pretend like we are more than friends We'll see where the night ends I wake up on your floor, you wake up in your bed So I'd like to think you said it's not where the story ends We say our sweet goodbyes Platonic jagged knives
