Noone's Song

Fools Garden

Here am I
sitting on wasted land From above
maybe I'd understand why the winds have changed
all my life
Only I've remained

Here you are waiting for anything
When will you get across to get in All the lines have changed
After all only you've remained

Where am I?
Wasn't there anyone
passing by?
Hasn't my life begun
in a world of change?
Slowly I
overcome the range

Now everything is strange, I hardly realised that anything has changed The world under my eyes and all the pretty things they stopped to be around There's nothing left, it seems they're buried in the ground

When everything is lost beyond the endless skies there's everything to find until the morning dies

'Cause every step is change with every single day We leave the world behind before we fade away

Life is so precious don't let them take it away