

The Big Empty

For the Fallen Dreams

What brings me back, I don't know
I need to grow and I need to go.
I need some space.
I need to erase all the thoughts of you that were put in this place.
All the things that are now dead and gone
For all the things that I should have done
Needless to say, you only got in the way.

I've driven down this road a thousand times before.
Do you know what it takes to bring me to your door
When it's all said and done
I will know for sure,
What it takes to forget the fact that I want more.

(Hey, hey, hey)
What do you say It's not me and it's not the same.
Don't go and throw it away.
You did it yourself and you did it today.
What if I said I'm not to blame
I don't care if you think I'm the same.
What if I said I'm ready to go
I'll never say again that I told you so.
Never again I told you so.

You're losing your grip.
You're losing your game.
You're losing your grip.
You're losing your game.

I've driven down this road a thousand times before.
Do you know what it takes to bring me to your door
When it's all said and done
I will know for sure,
What it takes to forget the fact that I want more.

(Hey, hey, hey)
What do you say It's not me and it's not the same.
Don't go and throw it away.
You did it yourself and you did it today.
What if I said I'm not to blame
I don't care if you think I'm the same.
What if I said I'm ready to go
I'll never say again that I told you so.
Never again I told you so.

I've driven down this road a thousand times before.
Do you know what it takes to bring me to your door
When it's all said and done
I will know for sure,
What it takes to forget the fact that I want more.

I've driven down this road a thousand times before.
Do you know what it takes to bring me to your door
When it's all said and done
I will know for sure,
What it takes to forget the fact that I want more.