

Burn it down!

I see the dawning of a movement of the kids who won't concede
To a culture of deception; and a spark is all we need.

I see the dawning of a movement of the kids who won't concede
To a culture of deception; and a spark is all we need
To see a revolution in a culture that's living a lie.

Still, this is our generation, and still, we will not watch it
die.

Out in the streets we run, with the fire of conviction,
And we let it shine.

We burn every structure down, that stands for our destruction.
Liberate your mind!

And we will always believe:

They can see our banner waving high, so let your fire burn tonight.

And as the city sleeps, in the empty streets, there's a flame lighting up the sky!

There is a system designed to destroy us.

We'll send it back to hell!

I'll watch it burn to the ground.

Burn it down!

I'll watch it burn to the ground;

And freedom will rise from the ashes.

Burn it down!

I see the dawning of a movement of the kids who won't concede
To a culture of deception; and a spark is all we need.

I see the dawning of a movement of the kids who won't concede
To a culture of deception; and a spark is all we need
To see a revolution in a culture that's living a lie.

Still, this is our generation, and still, we will not watch it
die.

And we will always believe:

They can see our banner waving high, so let your fire burn tonight.

And as the city sleeps, in the empty streets, there's a flame lighting up the sky!

They can see our banner waving high, so let your fire burn tonight.

And as the city sleeps, in the empty streets, there's a flame we see burning bright!
