

Until I Make You Mine

Foreigner

I see your face and I remember when
So much has changed between now and then
There was a time you had to make up your mind

The feeling grows, it was born on tears and kept alive for all these years
But I won't rest until I make you mine, all mine

I used to fantasize that you were mine
You tried to hide your feelings but I'm not blind
I saw it when I looked into your eyes
I've had a thing about you for a long, long time

Why do I wait? When I know nothing's changed
This love should fade, but feels the same
I can't believe, that you still think of me

How many times have I been dreaming of?
Whispering the words, my words of love
I can't believe that you still dream about me

I used to fantasize that you were mine
You tried to hide your feelings, but I'm not blind
I saw it when I looked into your eyes
I've had a thing about you for a long, long time

Now I dream
Over and over again
The same dream
I'd better stop

I see your face and I remember when
So much has changed between now and then
There was a time you had to make up your mind

I used to fantasize that you were mine
You tried to hide your feelings, but I'm not blind
I saw it when I looked into your eyes
I've had a thing about you for a long, long time
For a long, long time
For a long, long time
I love you for a long, long time
