This is for the losers and the rejects
This is for cowards and cynics
You are the reason you're to blame
You're not going to drag me down with you

We are the ones that stand our ground We are the ones that won't back down We are the rise but not the fall We are the writing on the wall We are unbreakable

This is for the liars and the trainwrecks This is for the downers and the homesick You feel the need to rearrange You're not going to drag me down with you

We are the ones that stand our ground We are the ones that won't back down We are the rise but not the fall We are the writing on the wall We are unbreakable

So sad, but true You feel like you're unbreakable

We are the ones that stand our ground We are the ones that won't back down We are the rise but not the fall We are the writing on the wall

We are the firsts but not the lasts
We are the future not the past
We are the bold we are the brave
We fight to live another day
We are the unbreakable