

Crazy Is A Pitstop

Francis Dunnery

I never knew you could get high on water
I never knew you could get full on nothing at all
What if the question is the answer?
What if living here isn't living here at all

It's a big hallucination
And crazy is a pitstop when your on your way home
I went back to 1937
Then I went and landed on the moon

I often visit my dead father
But I never leave the room
And your not here like you think you are
Crazy is a pitstop when your on your way home

I know what I sound like I know what I mean
I want to discover love inside of me
I want to fly away into a sky that I created
Where the only thing you need to know

Is where the greatest thermal winds will blow
I should've died there, inside, I think I'm on my way home
Lord of attack conjoins with the Lord of learning in the House of

The Lord of wisdom
Last chance to make it in the sunlight
Last chance to get yourself a good time
I drove a taxi across the water

I didn't know that thinking was real
And every single thing I recognize, I realize
The only truth is what I feel
And whether you like it or not, you are me and I m you

As we dream ourselves together
As I contribute to the weather
Crazy is a pitstop when your on the way home
And I'm crazy 'cause I know that everyone's inside of me.
