

Another Velvet Nightmare

Frank Black

Today I felt my heart slide into my belly
So I puked it up with liquor and I slept right where I lay
And I dreamed the backs of cards for the faces were not telling
No, I never have felt sicker and I do not want to wake
Here comes another nightmare of you again
Another velvet nightmare come true again
Oh, I should have seen it coming
Oh, please don't let it end
My nightmare of you again
No, I never would have come here but my eyes they would not focus
So I took my last three dollars and I spent them on a drink
I had visions of you, dear, but they floated without notice
All these drunkards do is holler till this drunkard cannot think
A curtain falls
A scene [Incomprehensible]
It seems your blue eyes glisten
Here comes another nightmare of you again
Another velvet nightmare come true again
Oh, I should have seen it coming
Oh, please don't let it end
My nightmare of you again