Winter blows through my coat It's chilling my bones But it does not compare To your cold heart of stone I pledged you my love And I gave you my car Now you're parking with him Yeah I know where you are Winter blows through my coat It's chilling my bones But it does not compare To your cold heart of stone Your favorite perfume Well I gave you a tub Now you're stepping out For your rubba dub dub If ever you need Don't call (2x) I once had a dog Who ran from his home But that wasn't even close To your cold heart of stone Winter blows through my coat It's chilling my bones But it does not compare To your cold heart of stone If ever you need Don't call (2x)
