

They got together, split it up into fifths
Got out of hand
Until someone was stiff
The melancholy man of myth
Wins the game again

The life of Cherry Blossom, how short it exists
She couldn't keep her promise so she dove from the cliffs
The sea devours by instinct
And claims another one again