

I Could Be a Star Now

Frank Zappa

[Martin:] What do you do? You join the Mothers and you end up working for Zappa! And he makes you be a creep! You could have played the blues with John Mayall, or far-out exciting jazz with Blood, Sweat & Tears

[Don:] You really think so?

[Martin:] Look, no one'll ever take you seriously after this . . . how can they take you seriously? In this business you either gotta play the blues or sing with a high voice

[Don:] You're right, I never should have joined the Mothers, oh I . . . I could be a star now, oh . . .