

Put Yourself in My Place, Baby

Frankie Laine

Put your self in my place, baby
And try to understand the way I feel
Imagine the tables turned
And how I yearned to have you back in my arm
Wouldn't that be heaven?

Put your self in my place, baby
Remember it's my first affair

Those moments that we knew so well
Deserve another try
Two people with the same sweet memories
Shouldn't let love go by

Put your self in my place, baby
Then you'll know how much I really care

Wouldn't that be heaven?

Put your self in my place, baby
Remember it's my first affair

Those moments that we knew so well
Deserve another try
Two people with the same sweet memories
Shouldn't let love go by

Put your self in my place, baby
Then you'll know how much I really care
Just think about it twice, it's easy to be nice
Baby, put your self in my place
