

I miss my lung

Frenzal Rhomb

Another Sunday morning
Another boring day
Another lonely sunrise
Takes my breath away

I miss my lung
I miss my lung

I thought you'd never leave me
God how I was wrong
A part of me is missing
It seems it's been so long

Well, I miss my lung
After all the songs I sung
I miss my lung

I tried to forget you
And live with my regrets
I tried not to miss you
I recall your lovely breath

I miss my lung
As vital as the sun
I miss my lung

Worse than a broken heart
Worse than a poison tongue
Worse than an evil eye
Is my missing lung

I took you for granted
It's ended up in tears
I miss you more than showers
It's been about a year

I loved you like no other
Oh, how can I live on
I hope that you can hear me
It's for you I wrote this song

I miss my lung
I miss my lung

After all the songs I sung
I miss my lung

I miss my lung
