

The Inner Beast

From Ashes Rise

Another night begins, and I fear the worst.
They know where you are, and who you have been.
I don't believe the badges that hide the inner beast, that hide the evil of those within.
"We are here for you, to please your privilege, to stop the violence that we control."
And being shot to death is all part of the law.
They will joke and laugh about the ones they have caught.
As the arms of justice swallow us whole, another night begins,
and we'll find you.