

Face the Day

From Ashes to New

Break away
Rip the flesh from the bone
And bury me

I wake up every morning
It's hard to look at me
I chose this life I wasn't born in
And all the lies I'm caught between Feeling empty, broke inside it's never ending
Can't escape everyday's the same routine
I gotta try no matter how unrelenting
I gotta fall to find my feet

I will face the day

I'll break away
from this dying part of me
I'll breathe new life
into what was dark and grey
And I hope I can make it
Through another day
And I hope I can make it
Going on this way

I can't keep going on this way
Feels like I'm stuck in time
I can't keep living life afraid
While each chance is passing by
I sit and wait but still I hesitate
Comatose with a distant look in my eye
Standing with one foot in the grave
Not sure which half's alive

I will face the day

I'll break away
from this dying part of me
I'll breathe new life
into what was dark and grey
And I hope I can make it
Through another day
And I hope I can make it
Going on this way

I can't go on this way

I'll break away
from this dying part of me
I'll breathe new life
into what was dark and grey
And I hope I can make it
Through another day
And I hope I can make it
Going on this way