

I believe you never meant all the things you said and I believe I will survive if I just pass this day I'll leave it all behind and now I swear I won't believe another word you say you lied to me
you lied to me

and all the words we never said
and all the time we never had are broken dreams right now that's what I feel somehow
and all the words we never said
and all the time we never had keep running through my head I'm never coming back to be with you and everything that we have done so dumb and immature when I heard that you're not alone I was so afraid but you can't imagine how I feel I am losing my faith, my faith that's why I cry when you kiss my lips

and all the words we never said
and all the time we never had
are broken dreams right now
that's what I feel somehow
and all the words we never said
and all the time we never had
keep running through my head
I'm never coming back to be with you

I'll never find the reason why you're with him to me it makes no sense at all and I'm still waiting for the day that you come to me straight and say all the things you never said they keep running through my head

and all the words we never said
and all the time we never had
are broken dreams right now
that's what I feel somehow
and all the words we never said
and all the time we never had
keep running through my head
I'm never coming back to be with you to be with you