

Safety Suits

From Dawn To Fall

Losing cruise control heading to the next extreme safety suits are gone we're floating down the street the road is our home our friendship means so much to us

this is about more
this is about everything connected sounds and souls this is what we're fighting for
this is about more
this is about everything
music's what we're dying for

Losing cruise control
facing our next extreme sometime's is hard to keep priorities but we won't leave our words of modesty sound like this is so okay to be out of tune
it's ok to be out of tune are you with us

this is about more
this is about everything
connected sounds and souls
this is what we're fighting for
this is about more
this is about everything
music's what we're dying for

Ten people in the crowd and we're still rocking the fuck out our cock's are hanging out my brain feels like a cloud I'm high on the adrenalin that automatically sets in I run up on the stage and your applause makes me feel like a king this is our life a scene our fucking dream now try to push us down and become an eyewitness of our rising

this is about more
this is about everything
connected sounds and souls
this is what we're fighting for
this is about more
this is about everything
music's what we're dying for