Populace in Two

From First to Last

Your memories will always haunt me like a ghost To put it nicely, I hope you choke A poet of sorts but I'm not enough, to give you an eyesore

It's hard to swallow with your hands around my throat
I'm sick and tired, I told you so
You can call me at home but I know better than to answer the ph one

When people ask about the last time that we spoke I let the stitches do the talking for the most part And I leave out how you threw a lamp through my front window

Just burn the photographs and bury all the pages that we know In short, this is a long goodbye to unexpecting you Just burn the photographs and bury all the pages that we know In short, this is a long goodbye to unexpecting you

Even if I spend 2004 listening to Morrissey in my car I'm better off alone, than I would be in your arms
Even if I spend 2004 listening to Morrissey in my car
I'm better off alone, than I would be in your arms
In your arms, I'm better off alone, in your arms

Just burn the photographs and bury all the pages that we know In short, this is a long goodbye to unexpecting you Just burn the photographs and bury all the pages that we know In short, this is a long goodbye to unexpecting you

Just burn the photographs and bury all the pages that we know In short, this is a long goodbye to unexpecting you Just burn the photographs and bury all the pages that we know In short, this is a long goodbye to unexpecting you

To unexpecting you, to unexpecting you To unexpecting you, to unexpecting you