

I Am Aware

From Indian Lakes

The world was once in my hands
But now it's yours again
And I've seen this happen more than once before
I've looked around me over and over again
Searching for something that is beautiful
Have I found the thing that I desire?

Where were you when I was scared and all alone inside my head?
Where were you when I was scared and all alone inside my head?

How could I not see you?
Have I been so blind?
And seen right through you all this time
Did you see me?
When I was all alone
Did I hear you whisper my name in the dark?

My life was once in my hands
But now I'm yours again
And I know I've never felt like this before
The times you found me over and over again
Giving me something that is beautiful
Have I found that thing that I desire?

Where were you when I was scared and all alone inside my head?
Where were you when I was scared and all alone inside my head?

Have I been stuck here in the same place?
Have you been there all this time?
Have you been there all this time?
Have I been stuck here in the same place?
Have you been up in the clouds?
I need you to come down to me
