

I Have No Answers

From Indian Lakes

Brothers and sisters, I have no answers, answers!
I have no, brothers and sisters, I have no answers, answers!
I have no.

It made my head spin
The very thought of ever letting you down
But we've been breathing, and never really taking in the air
And I admit this, that I am faithless and I will drown
Cause I've been breathing, but never really taking in the air

But who am I?
The very words I've spoken have brought on my own demise.
And what am I? To pretend my heart is broken!
I've taken out my own eyes!

God if I could only see the trees outside!
And if my legs could stretch out and run along the hilltops!
The sun is leaking in and I can smell the ocean, but I can't hear it's Waves against my walls, but I can hear your whispers,
Your whispers in my ears

I've been clawing at the walls and the floorboards!
I've seen through the cracks and now I'm walking around outside
!
The bunch of people I see aren't really there! None of them are there!
But I've been seeing shadows around every corner
And my friends have all seen that I'm just no good anymore.
When they came and took my body away
I would have done anything at all

Oh my God, I am ready to turn around
And face the things I've done and turned away from [X3]

Brothers and sisters, I have no answers, answers!
I have no, brothers and sisters, I have no answers, answers!
I have no.