

King For A Day

Fuel

Bled the line tonight, fading as the lies
Lie weeping on the page, nothing was saved

Falling at the sight, photographs of white
Bright grin and sunny days and all was betrayed

And I think I know
The reason that your light would never stay
And all that's left to show
Are memories now but I can truly say
I was king for a day

And I think I know
The reason that your light would never stay
And all that's left to show
Are memories now but I can truly say
I was king for a day

And I think I know
The reason that your light would never stay
And all that's left to show
Are memories now but I can truly say
Hey, hey, I was king for a day, yeah