

Soul to Preach To

Fuel

I've had myself a long hard day
It helps to ease the tracks of my mind
I thought I'd be much more some way
Did I miss it killing time?

Oo, I look at all the times I should have walked away
Oo, I look at all the times I should have cared

Now I'm looking out for a soul to preach to
What I'm searching for is just a world away

I fell into a far away haze
The mirror's never shown my eyes
Caught up in a cloud for days

Oo, I look at all the times I should have walked away
Oo, I look at all the times I couldn't care

Now I'm looking out for a soul to preach to
What I'm searching for is just a world away

Can't you see the dead's alive?
Read the blood between the lines and I'll be there
Can't you feel me petrified?
Pull me in and show reality for me
It's only just a dream
Oo, I look at all the times I never cared

Now I'm looking out for a soul to preach to
What I'm searching for is just a world away
