The World We Live In

Funeral Dress

Wondering why it's all so boring Suicide, confusion all around No pub you feel home, no records to please you You're strangled by the crowd, there's no fucking way out

You don't seem to understand It's the world that you live in (world you live in) You don't seem to understand It's the world that you live in (world you live in)

Working all day, commander above you A feeling of repression has annoyed your inner Entangled by the system, you're scheduled all the time Detach you from the mass, don't have to follow their line

You don't seem to understand It's the world that you live in (world you live in) You don't seem to understand It's the world that you live in (world you live in)